

WILSON'S DEATH

GEORGE BAUGH'S DEATH

President Braves Torrents to Go Through With Entire Program at Italian City, En Route to Milan From Rome.

MILAN, Jan. 6. (By the Associated Press.)—President Wilson journeyed from Rome to Milan yesterday morning at Genoa en route to Milan. He was greeted by hundreds of thousands of the common people who acclaimed him in the most extravagant terms, fought and scrambled to be near enough to touch him, and even attempted to kiss his hand or clothing as he passed through the dense crowds surging and suffering under him.

Mr. Wilson's visit of three hours to Genoa was marred by a tropical downpour of rain which drenched the president and all his party. The decorations were soaked and torn and flapped in the wind. Nevertheless the president carried out his full program, including a visit to the monuments of Columbus and Mazzini and the city hall, where he was given a reception.

Whatever arrangements might have been made to receive the president were ruined by his arrival with the party early in the morning. The decorations were soaked and torn and flapped in the wind. Nevertheless the president carried out his full program, including a visit to the monuments of Columbus and Mazzini and the city hall, where he was given a reception.

Before leaving Genoa, President Wilson laid a wreath at the base of the statue of Columbus and, standing bareheaded in the driving rain, made a short address.

"Believing," said the president, "America desires to show others how they may also share in the freedom of the world."

In reply to the welcome of the people of Milan, on behalf of the municipality yesterday, President Wilson said:

"I am very much touched today, sir, to receive at the hands of wounded soldiers a memorial in favor of a peace of nations and peace and the thing that was that they had fought for not merely to win this war, but to secure something beyond some guarantee of justice, some equilibrium for the world as a whole which would make certain that the peace would be a peace of justice and not a peace of expediency."

"This is an added obligation upon us who make peace," he said, "to sign a treaty of peace and go home with a clear conscience. We must do something more than to sign a treaty as we can the security which suffering men everywhere demand."

"I think also of suffering women. I know that, splendid as have been the achievements of your army and navy, it is in the spirit that I receive your treaty, sir, and thank you for the peace which you have secured. I have received at the hands of your generous people."
